Father Darkleaf

by c. h. r.

A pleasant visitor in our office today morning was our friend, Mr. T. Anderson, of Route 1, Pamplin. On January 8th, Mr. Anderson was 83 years of age. He is a citizen of our county, and I do feel hope to be able to dance a on the occasion of his 100th birthday!

Father Darkleaf has learned a lot in patience, of forebearance and gentleness. It concerns feeding of bird food, a glorious assortment of choice seeds and such. Last fall, we purchased a good, well-made bird feeder, a glorious assortment of choice seeds and such. This week-end, I decided the time was ripe to get into the bird-feeding business, what with the ground covered with snow and ice. Only a spot available upon which to place the food was my front sidelight, which was clear. I spread it with a versatile feast for the birds, and to birds! There are several in my shrubs, a few feet away, watching the birds having their But, no birds! I had figured that no bird would starve in my town, but it just didn't pan out! I became discouraged. It would be that the birds just didn't like me. I became forlorn and dejected. I had anticipated peeping out of the front window and enjoying watching the birds having But, it didn't work out that I became soured on the world in general. But such is life. It is a cruel thing. Who is to say, which is the ball bounces. God puts into each of his creatures emotions and sentiments, and it is not for us to understand our fellow creatures. I surmised the bout. Have birds no sense of smell? Can't they see good food when it is on the table. What when it is on the table. What wrong? They use my shrubs as but won't eat my food! But, be, when I went home yesterday evening, I beheld a wonderful sight. The birds were lined up on the sidewalk, having a party! There were dozens of them! They seemed happy! I sat in my car, watching. They flew off as I crossed the walk, but then they hurried to get back into business eating my banquet food! I was so excited that I went into my den and shook out all the rest of my supply of bird food. It was a rewarding sight to behold. The birds had had their way to the table, and the lesson I had learned was to be quiet, and things will work out for me, so, I hope to keep in the business of "feeding the birds!"

Friends are glad to see the Town Manager, C. J. Hunter, back on the job after recent illness.

Congratulations to West - End Motel, on their Third Anniversary.

Pamplin is expanding steel outlook after record year.

Scouts Plan Trek To Appomattox

The Explorer Posts, Boy Scouts of America, of the Piedmont Area Council, are planning a trek following the route which Gen. Lee took on his retreat from Saylor's Creek to Appomattox.

The Trek, a distance of about 36 miles, will be held on the week-end of April 21-23. Lewis Shipp, Jr., of Crewe, Virginia Post 537, has been appointed chairman of the Trek by Harold Tate, of Farmville, chairman of the Council Explorer Cabinet. Other members of the committee are, in addition to Shipp and Tate, Jimmy Harris and Larry Green, from Farmville; Clarence Hart and Dave Clarrier, Blackstone, and Wayne Pait, Crewe.

On Friday afternoon before the Trek begins, a monument to the late W. R. Turner, a Nottoway Co. Historian, will be dedicated at Saylor's Creek, by the Explorers. This monument is being furnished by the Blackstone Lions Club.

The boys will camp over night near Raices Tavern, when an advanced detail will have pitched tents and the Kiwanis Club of Crewe will have prepared the evening meal.

The next day the boys will continue their march, stopping for lunch at the Johns' farm. After lunch they will continue to a spot near the Appomattox Hunt Club to spend the night.

Early on Sunday morning, after they have prepared their own breakfast, they will march on to the McLean House at Appomattox, where they will conduct a memorial service at the site of Lee's Surrender. The Trek is known as the W. R. Turner Memorial Trek, and is conducted as a tribute to him.

FOR PREMEASUREMENT OF TOBACCO ACREAGE

Farmers who want their 1961 allotment to be premeasured should file their applications at the ASC office as promptly as possible, W. D. Hix, III, chairman of the Appomattox County ASC committee says. He adds that early application for premeasurement will enable the county committee to better coordinate the work.

He estimated that there will be about 200 farmers requesting the service this year, based on last year's figures. The work must be completed by May 1st. Last year a long seige of bad weather in late February and March delayed the premeasurement job and reporters were sorely pressed to do the job by May 1.

The premeasurement service in Appomattox County is offered on tobacco to farmers who file their applications with ASC not later than February 15, 1961.

Mr. Hix points to reasons why it is to a farmer's advantage to use premeasurement service. First, if he underplants his acreage allotment, he loses money through failure to realize his potential production. On the other hand, if he overplants his allotment, he must dispose of the excess or be liable for a marketing quota penalty. If the farmer overplants his allotment, he must also pay a fee to have a representative of the ASC office witness disposition of the excess acreage.

The cost of premeasurement to the afrmer is reasonable. The rate for all types of tobacco is $2.00 per farm plus $1.50 for each acre or fraction thereof with a minimum of $6.00 per farm.

At the time a farmer files his application for premeasurement, he must deposit the cost of the service with the ASC county office.

Evergreen Ruritan Club

The Evergreen Ruritan Club held its regular meeting on Friday night, January 20, at Evergreen School.

Various committees were named, and objectives for the year were discussed.

Announcement was made concerning the Ruritan Club Officers' Meeting of Zone Three, Appomattox District, to be held at Weyanoke Hotel, Farmville, at 6:30 P. M., Jan. 25. The club voted to send the following officers to this meeting: Glenn S. Martin, Randall H. Woodridge, A. Peyton Seay, James C. Womack, Rev. V. L. Hudson.

Supper was served by the Bethany Home Demonstration Club.

Demonstration Club Schedule

Wednesday, Feb. 1.- Glendale Club will meet at 2 P. M. with Mrs. E. W. Marshall, Sr.

Thursday, Feb. 2.- The Oakville Club will meet at 10 A. M. with Mrs. Herbert Richardson. Members bring covered dish for luncheon.

Thursday, Feb. 2.- Rocks Club will meet at 7:30 P. M. with Mrs. Walter Ranson.

It may be dangerous to have a great amount of money but, personally, we have decided, if the occasion presents itself, we will try to be brave and risk it.

The annual dark-fired tobacco marketing season is slated to come to an end on February 9. Marketing conditions could possibly change this tentative date. It is estimated that 80% of the crop has been sold.

This week's sales should raise the total marketings to around 90%.

It has been a good season. An increase this week in the average paid for low and medium grade leaf brought pleased growers. The average on the Farmville market was above $36 per hundredweight, and that market has paid out over one million dollars this season for tobacco. The most recent sun-cured average was $35.66.

A number of excellent sales have been made. For example, one pile of C-1-F choice quality thin leaf brought $67 per hundredweight.

Over the dark-fired belt, for last week, sales totaled 940,800 pounds, at an average price of $35.59.

Up until Monday, 9,662,575 pounds, for an average of $39.57.

The total poundage for this marketing season is expected to run about 4% behind last year.

Offerings are expected to taper off next week.

MASS X-RAYS PLANNED IN DRIVE ON TUBERCULOSIS

Virginia's forthcoming massive assault on tuberculosis, and the vital role to be played by the nine county Southside Tuberculosis Association's directors at their quarterly session in Farmville last Monday night.

Mrs. Catherine C. Zabarov, of Richmond, director of public information and public relations for the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, said that the pilot, lung survey surveys will attempt to achieve a 90 per cent "picture" examination of all persons 18 years of age and over in seven counties.

Two of the counties, Charlotte and Lunenburg, are among the nine regional counties served by the Southside Association. With Campbell, these counties will comprise the first pilot area in a mass survey between March 7 and April 15.

FOUR-H'ERS HAVE BUSY SEASON AHEAD

Virginia's 4-H club members have a busy season coming up.

In a rundown of what lies ahead this year in 4-H activities, Miss Evelyn Barker, associate state 4 - H agent at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, calls attention first to National 4-H Club Week, March 5 - 11. This year's special theme is "Learn, Live, and Serve through 4-H." Special activities will include exhibits, programs for civic clubs, special projects, tours, etc.

Emphasis on special church programs will highlight Rural Life Sunday, May 7.

March will also signal the beginning of county achievement record book contests. Club members can submit record books in one of the 34 categories and compete for the honor of representing the county in the state contest.

County 4-H demonstration and judging contests will be held through the state in the early spring, and will be followed in April and May by district contests.

District winners then will compete at the State 4-H Short Course at VPI June 26 to July 1.

The county 4-H camping programs begin in June.

TV set sales were poor during 1960.

Peace Centennial

PEACE CONFERENCE CENTENNIAL OBSERVED BY OLD DOMINION

Dr. Francis Pendleton Gaines, the chancellor of Washington and Lee University, will be the principal speaker at services in Washington to commemorate the Peace Conference that was held in that city 100 years ago, the Virginia Civil War Commission has announced.

Senator Chas. T. Moses, of Appomattox, is chairman of the Virginia Commission.

The service will be held in the Washington Cathedral at 4 P. M., Sunday, February 5. In addition to diplomatic corps, members of Congress, other government leaders, the Commission hopes for a large attendance by descendants of those who participated in the historic meeting just prior to the Civil War.

The Peace Convention, called at the suggestion of Virginia's General Assembly, was a dramatic but futile attempt to restore the Union and prevent war.

Dr. Gaines, one of the nation's leading educators, has studied and written considerably about Lee. On Monday, January 8, he marked the 153rd. anniversary of the Civil War Centennial by making an address at Lee's tomb in Lexington, Virginia, at the same time that other ceremonies were taking place at Grant's tomb in New York City.

During the service in Washington next month, a bronze plaque, 54 by 38 inches, will be dedicated in honor of those men from 21 states who took part in the Peace Convention, held in the old Willard Hotel, from February 4-27, 1861. Later the plaque will be installed in front of the new Willard Hotel.

The plaque reads:

"The Peace Convention
The old Willard Hotel was the scene of the last major effort to restore the Union and prevent the Civil War. At Virginia's invitation, delegates from twenty-one of the then thirty-four states met in secret session from February 4 to 27, 1861, in a vain attempt to solve the differences between the North and South. To honor those who worked for peace and unity this memorial is erected by the Virginia Civil War Commission, February, 1961."

A highlight of the commemorative service will be a processional, with band music and color guard ceremonies. The general public is also invited to attend.

In Richmond, on February 4, ceremonies will be held at 11 A. M. in the Old Hall of the House of Delegates in the State Capitol.
